DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-27, drawn to an electrode device, classified in class 606, subclass 32.
- II. Claims 28-34, drawn to an electrophysiological procedure kit, classified in class 606, subclass 34.
- III. Claim 35-42, drawn to a method for transmitting energy through a tissue, classified in class 606, subclass 32.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Group I and II are related Group III as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the apparatus of Groups I and II can practice a materially different method than that set forth in the method of Group III. Namely, the apparatus could be positioned on one side of a tissue.

Groups I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because claim 1 does not set forth the details of the subcombination to the same extent set forth in claim 28. The subcombination has separate utility such as the kit can be applied with an electrode device other than the device as claimed.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Mr. Craig Slavin on August 13, 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
